

Brightwell's Ecomulti for cost-effective multi-chemical dispensing

Building on the success of its popular Eco range, Brightwell Dispensers has expanded its product offering with Ecomulti, a unit offering a cost-effective way of diluting up to five chemicals from the one dispenser.

"We recognised the emerging demand for dispensing solutions that can dilute multiple chemicals from the same system," explained Matthew Dwelly, Brightwell Dispensers' general manager.

Using Brightwell's patented technologies and the latest in innovative design, the Ecomulti is said to be packed with features designed to meet the needs of providers and their customers.

Acknowledging consistent and precise dilution is top priority for all users, all of Brightwell's proportioners feature the patented dilution pin technology. 'The revolutionary wheel design eliminates the need for cumbersome metering tips enabling installers to calibrate up to 12 independent dilution ratios per chemical outlet,' pointed out the company.

Ecomulti is a flexible system allowing chemical cabinets to be installed on either side of the dispenser, with an alternative option of drawing chemical from hanging brackets. Accessories like these promote health and safety in the workplace as they securely lock away concentrates, thus minimising risk of tampering and contact with hazardous chemicals.

Other Ecomulti accessories include multi-lingual colour-coded pictorial labels to promote best cleaning practice.

Ecomulti holds the Watermark approval and is available to order as a four or five chemical dispenser.

Starbag vac bags kill bacteria and odours

Cleanstar has further expanded its prodigious Starbag vac bag range with Carbon Vac and Antibacterial offerings.

The Antibacterial bag prevents from breeding; is effective against allergens; and has five layers of filtration. According to Cleanstar, the Antibacterial bag is ideal for use on healthcare, education and public area sites.

Manufactured to keep vacuum cleaners smelling fresh, the Carbon Vac bag's activated-carbon helps eliminate odours. It's designed for areas such as offices, food and animal sites.

The Starbag range suits a wide range of vacuum cleaner brands including Cleanstar, Ghibli, Pacvac, Origin, Pullman, Nilfisk, Sebo and more.
